

Teaching and Learning Experience Sharing (TALES) Workshop

Teaching Excellence @ HKBU

Exemplary Teaching Practice Maximising Student Learning Experience

Dr Glos HO

Senior Lecturer
Department of Marketing

*President's Award for Outstanding
Performance in Teaching (2016)*

Dr Ho employs a wide range of real-life examples and illustrations in her teaching, creating an interactive learning environment. She also spent most of her time in supporting students outside classroom, including helping mainland students integrate fully into the campus life, promoting cross-cultural exchange among local and international exchange students, etc.

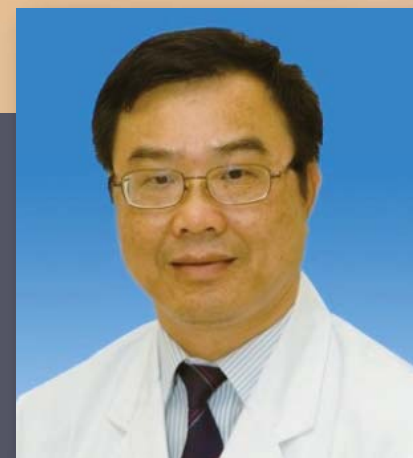

Dr Krzysztof SLIWINSKI

Associate Professor Department of Government and International Studies

*President's Award for Outstanding
Performance in Teaching (2017)*

Dr Sliwinski is a highly competent teacher with lots of innovative ideas to stimulate student learning. To name a few, he adopts web-based learning, inquiry-based teaching, scaffolding, simulations/ problem-based learning/buzz group, etc.. With all these, he only shares one goal – to help students apply what they learn in the University in work and daily life.

Dr TU Feng

Principal Lecturer
Chinese Medicine – Teaching and Research Division

*President's Award for Outstanding
Performance in Teaching (2017)*

Dr Tu earns deep respect from his students and colleagues for his wholehearted dedication to teaching. He helps students explore their own potential, stimulating their learning interest. He devotes much time in helping students link to their future workplace through clinical practice training.

Abstract:

There are lots of inspiring stories to tell how dedicated teachers at HKBU enhance student learning experience through their exemplary teaching practices. Every year, we are honoured to have invited some of our excellent teachers in the TALES workshop series to share ways to stimulate student learning, design innovative teaching and learning activities and assessment method to assess student achievements.

In this session, three awardees of our President's Awards for Outstanding Performance in Teaching will talk about their teaching pedagogies and share tips on engaging student learning. They all share a common belief – student learning should not be necessarily restricted to the classroom environment. Co-curricular and extra-curricular activities are of equal importance for helping students develop the HKBU graduate attributes.

Date: 11 April 2017 (Tuesday)

Time: 12:45 to 2:15 p.m. (light lunch from 12:30 to 12:45 p.m.)

Venue: ACC209 2/F, Jockey Club Academic Community Centre,
Baptist University Road Campus

Enquiries and Registration

For enquiries:
(852) 3411-7231

Please visit
<http://chtl.hkbu.edu.hk/workshop/reg.php>
and register now!

